Atrauman® Silicone
Silicone protection

When only the most gentle of touches will do

Atrauman Silicone doesn't adhere to the skin or cause pain or trauma when removed[2].

Features

Polyethylene mesh coated with silicone provides safe and gentle positioning through initial tack

Prevents adherence to the wound

Minimises pain and trauma on removal

Can be used under NPWT systems

Can be cut to size, thin and conformable for flexible application

Small pore size lets exudate pass and prevents granulation tissue from penetrating the dressing

Review at day 7 or before based on clinical assessment of the patient and their wound.
